On the Cover—

This aerial view of the north east section of Greenport village shows several clues to determine the year this picture was produced. The facts that the hospital was torn down in 1949 and the breakwater was built in 1893 give us a window of 52 years. Upon closer looks (with a magnifying glass) a car in the driveway near the cemetery looks to be a 1940ish variety. We would welcome any input from our readers.
