View north from the Academy building cupola in Southold, 1898. The railroad tracks are obscured by the higher ground. Again, more white picket fence.

The Academy building with outhouse, circa 1900. The cupola ledge was accessible through a screen-hinged door in the back. Built in 1867, the building served as a preparatory study for college and higher learning, and later a school for commercial training. (photo from the Peconic Bay Shopper archives.)

March 28: Enemies, A Love Story

Based on the novel by Isaac Bashevis Singer, this film deals with the lives of Jewish survivors of the Holocaust, who find it difficult to abide by religious morals and question a God who could let the Holocaust occur. Ron Silver plays a character who leads a double (or triple?) life, married to his wartime protector (Lena Olin) and fooling around with a married Jewish woman. Things get more complicated when his first wife (Angelica Huston), thought dead in the Holocaust, returns.

April 25: A Woman's Pale Blue Handwriting

It is Austria 1936, and Leonidas Tachezy, an Austrian government official happily married to the daughter of a prominent family, receives an unsettling letter. Twelve years before, as a student in Germany, he had an affair with a Jewish woman. Now she is asking for his help in placing a half-Jewish eleven year old boy in an Austrian school. The ethical crisis: is the child his? Should he help, and at a time when the Nazis are on the rise?

LECTURE SUNDAY MARCH 29

"The Wickham Murders - What happened in Cutchogue in June of 1854"

CUTCHOGUE-NEW SUFFOLK HISTORICAL COUNCIL

(631) 734-7122 • cutchoguehistory@gmail.com • www.cutchoguenewsuffolkhistory.org

One morning in June of 1854, the quiet farming community of Cutchogue awoke to find out that a horrifying tragedy had happened within the borders of their peaceful hamlet. The double murder of Frances and James Wickham not only shocked and horrified the local community but also reverberated throughout the northeast of the United States. Come join Amy Folk, Southold Town Historian, in the Cutchogue New Suffolk Free Library Community room, 2PM to 3:30PM, and learn what happened in Cutchogue in June of 1854. Admission is FREE. Refreshments served.

JAPANESE INTERNMENT CAMPS PROGRAM SUNDAY, MARCH 29

North Fork Reform Synagogue is presenting a program by Dr. Joel Klein, Past President of the Professional Archeologists of New York City, about the Japanese Internment camps during WWII, its history, art and archeology, 2pm at the Peconic Lane Rec Center.

In 1942 the US government forced 120,000 West Coast residents of Japanese ancestry into camps surrounded by guards and barbed wire—most were US citizens. That action is having repercussions to this day. The story of that forced relocation will be reviewed through photographs—many of which were impounded by the US Army—and the results of archeological investigations at the camp sites.

THE BIG DUCK & ELI'S DUCK FARMING TUESDAY MARCH 31

Southold Historical Society is pleased to be partnering with Peconic Landing to continue the Winter Lectures Series themed Long Island Landmarks at 4pm in the Peconic Landing Community Center's auditorium at 1500 Brecknock Rd., Greenport. This lecture, presented by guest speaker, Susan Van Scoy, Ph.D. will trace the fascinating and largely unknown history of the "Long Island Duck"—a fixture on the menus of fine dining establishments around the world. The first duck farm, Atlantic Duck Farm, opened on Long Island in Speonk in 1858; however, raising ducks did not take hold until the Pekin duck breed arrived from China in 1873," according to Van Scoy. By 1940, nearly 100 duck farms were concentrated mainly between Eastport and Riverhead. Today, due to environmental regulations and soaring costs, only one Long Island duck farm survives—Corwin's Crescent Duck Farm in Aquebogue. However, many influences of the Long Island duck industry remain, such as the Big Duck, a duck-shaped building conceived by Martin Maurer in 1931 that was used to sell poultry and duck eggs, inspiring the famous term 'duck' architecture." Admission is free. RSVP is recommended. To reserve, or for info call (631) 765-5500 or email info@southoldhistorical.org.

The author-historian will guide us through the 111-year history of Long Island's state hospitals—from 1885, when the City of New York transferred 55 men and women living at the Kings County Asylum to the new St. Johnland farm colony in Kings Park "to promote rational outdoor living, exercise, and occupation" to the more than 32,000 patients who were being cared for at Kings Park, Central Islip, and Pilgrim State hospitals by 1955, and beyond. Book Sale & Signing following the author's talk. Members Free; Non-Members $5. Includes light refreshments + admission to current exhibits. RSVP Required: 631-727-2881 x100.CURRENT EXHIBITS*Urban/Suburban: NYC & North Fork Street Photography: Photographer Neil Scholl's lifetime work has focused on street and documentary photography and has been widely exhibited at galleries across Long Island. This newly curated exhibit by Scholl contrasts his extraordinary street photography of NYC in the 1950s-1970s with his more recent images of the North Fork of Long Island. Scholl is Professor Emeritus of New York Institute of Technology, where for 20 years he taught photography and graphic design. (thru Feb 29) Let's Dance!: Polish Dolls & Folk Costumes. From our permanent museum collection, these festive handmade dolls and exquisite dance costumes from Poland are on exhibit in our History in the Hall display cases.Native People of the Eastern Woodlands: Art and Artifacts. The Eastern Woodlands is a cultural area of the indigenous people of North America, consisting of tribes inhabiting the United States and Canada, east of the Mississippi. Though their region was vast, the tribes lived in similar ways, and their art and artifacts reflect their deep-rooted culture, still evident through their descendants. In our Grand Staas Gallery. (thru Feb 29)When Women Wore Whales: The Story of How Whalebone Shaped 19th-Century Fashion. Through a display of 19th-century photographs, fashion magazine plates, whaling tools, corsets, parasols, and exquisite dresses showing the changes in fashion from 1820 to 1920, this exhibit explores the vital role the U.S. whaling industry played in the world of 19th-century fashion. Curated by Richard Doctorow. In our Weathervane Gallery.OFF-SITE EXHIBITION: Suffolk County Pine Barrens Pictorial Exhibit. A standing display on loan from the SCHS provides an overview of the history of the Pine Barrens and the critical role this region plays in the protection of Suffolk County's precious groundwater. On display at the Suffolk County Water Authority Education Center: 260 Motor Pkwy, Hauppauge, NY. 631-292-6565 or EdCenterTours@SCWA.com.SCHS PHOTO OF THE WEEK SERIES! To subscribe to our free and popular historic photo-story series, visit our website or send an email request to librarian Wendy Polhemus-Annibell: wannibell@schs-museum.orgONGOING: MEMBERSHIP DRIVE! Celebrating 131 years!
