On the Cover—

Monument Corner in Southold...
this old postcard shows the Tuckers Lane Civil War monument before the road cut that now runs behind it.

This monument is owned and maintained by the Southold Park District. The names etched into the sides are of local North Fork boys who served in Company H of the 127th Regiment NYS Volunteers.

Having found dozens of old postcards in our archives, we are recycling 40 year old stories that match (see page 3 in this issue). Most of this article was taken from Becky Terry's October 1980 story "Monument Nostalgia".

A TOUR OF SOUTHOLD MONUMENTS

AS THE WEATHER STARTS TO GET COOLER, it's a good time to take a walking tour of our local area; hence a nostalgic look at Southold monuments. At Founder's Landing stands the Memorial Gateway erected by the Ladies Village Improvement Society in 1915 (see photo on line in the August 2020 Peconic Bay Shopper). Made of cobble stones from nearby beaches and fields, it was unveiled by Josephine Addy and Helen Booth at the 275th village celebration. Quoting Rev. Overton that day:

"This gateway marks the spot where the original families landed. There were 13 men with families and since each wife wanted to be first on land it was agreed to let Peter Hallock, who was alone, take the first step on virgin soil."

The audience was reminded not to boast of ancestors and do little to honor them -- this being like potatoes -- the best part is underground!

Lest we forget, as we reach the Southold Library (see cover of the June 2020 Peconic Bay Shopper on line), take a minute to read again the World War I Honor Roll "given by the village in honor of the men and women who answered the call of their country to fight for worldwide liberty 1917-19."

In the Old Burying Ground west of the Presbyterian Church stands Founder's Monument. Placed in 1890, it marks the site of the first meeting house and commemorates the Southold Founders as part of the 250th celebration. Its Barre granite in rustic style befits the character of the rugged men and women it honors. Nearby is the grave of Rev. John Youngs who founded First Church Oct. 21, 1640. Also near is a white marble column, the burial site of Hon. Ezra L'Hommedieu, Southold's most famous citizen, prominent in state and national affairs from the time of the Revolutionary Congress to his death. The Founders were God-fearing Puritans, most Englishmen, a few Huguenots and Welshmen, being farmers, merchants, fishermen, one lawyer, one minister but no doctor until the second generation.

Continuing west on Main St., we reach the Soldiers Monument. The Ladies Monumental Union gave suppers, concerts and plays to raise money for a fitting Civil War memorial. Anyone giving the large sum (at that time) of $50 was noted in the newspaper. The grand total of $1800 was collected and a popular dressmaker on the committee selected the design. Dubbed "Abbie's Man" by the villagers, the monument represents a Union soldier standing at "parade rest". Incidentally, you will see this same figure in many a small town park as you travel the north-eastern

U.S. The intersection of Tuckers Lane and Main St. was once a public pound where all animals running loose were penned. This land was given by the town to the Ladies Union for their statue. It was named Budd's Park in honor of Lt. John Budd whose original home, much renovated, stands nearby. Under the statue were placed its history and a box of coins, with an iron fence enclosing the area. The dedication on May 30, 1887, brought thousands of spectators, the oldest, Samuel Vail, age 97, a War of 1812 veteran. Little Edith Prince and Fred Hommel, children of soldiers, pulled the string to remove the canvas covering. After the speeches people crowded around the monument to read the names inscribed on each side and gave thankful prayers that the wounds of the once divided nation were healing.

Our tour ends most appropriately in beautiful Triangle Park. Here one can view the impressive Southold-Peconic War Memorial dedicated in 1975 to "Peace -- In Honor of All Those Who Served Our Country". The memorial honors veterans of World War II, Korea and Vietnam. Circling the base of the monument are marble stones inscribed with the names of those who lost their lives in military service. As we rest under the shade of aged maples and watch the proud flags flying above this memorial, we are aware of the long span of history from early Puritan fathers to young men we still remember with affection. The monuments placed in their memory have given us a new appreciation of our local heritage.

Postcard published by H. M. Hawkins, Southold Long Island. Required postage reads "United States and Island Possessions, Cuba, Canada and Mexico: ONE CENT. All other Countries: TWO CENTS"

Oysterponds Historical Society (OHS) has been hard at work putting together this first in-person exhibition of 2020. OPEN HOUSE AT 1790 SCHOOL HOUSE SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 19

Eagle Scout Justin Garbarino has been working for some time with his Boy Scout Troop 39 to create a new exhibit in the 1790 School. He re-imagined the school house interior. Four farmhouse benches were built using reclaimed pine wood, based on a 1700s drawing he found during his research. School related artifacts annotated with historical documentation were distributed throughout the school house and he placed a donated Windsor chair. He draped a replica "76" flag from the 1976 Bicentennial across the back wall and installed a glass cabinet to display original and replica school items. His work has now been completed, and will be on public exhibit during this Open House the grounds of the Historical Society on from 11 AM to 4PM. Girl and Boy Scouts will recreate the feeling of the late 18th Century on Long Island with a table for calligraphy and quill-writing, a station for outdoor cooking, butter churning, antique items, woodworking, a demo with milk paint, and more. Refreshments will include homemade baked goods and a drink station. There will be tours of the buildings guided by docents in period dress. Towards the end of the Open House a brief ceremony will honor those who contributed to the 1790s Schoolhouse project. Admission is FREE!

PLEASE NOTE: Due to the impact of the Coronavirus, the MLHS will be using 'best practices' during this event, including:

- Attendee self-distancing (6 feet spacing)
- All attendees MUST wear a mask for the safety and protection of all who attend. If you feel you cannot do so, please do not attend. Masks and hand sanitizer will be available to those who need them.

ONLINE EVENT! September 19 (via Zoom) The Voice of Jupiter Hammon
 10am to 12:30pm: A virtual roundtable co-hosted by the Suffolk County Historical Society and Preservation Long Island. Born into slavery on Long Island and educated alongside his future enslaver, Jupiter Hammon (1711–c.1806) endured the American Revolution and witnessed the founding of a new nation. Through an analysis of Hammon's own words, this virtual roundtable will explore how Hammon's religious beliefs influenced his thoughts about freedom and equality, writing and the exchange of ideas as an act of resistance, and the importance of Jupiter's works to understanding American history and literature. A moderated panel featuring Dr. Jessie Erickson (University of Delaware), teacher and writer, Malik Work, and Dr. Phillip M. Richards (Colgate University) will be followed by a virtual break-out session for project stakeholders to reflect and respond to the conversation. The 90-minute online panel discussion is FREE and open to the public, but registration is required. Info: 631-727-2881.
